

FOUR-FIELD ADDRESS RULE

- 01 PLACE
A location people can reach
- 02 STEWARD
A named care role
- 03 EVIDENCE
An inspectable record
- 04 EXIT
A way to pause, withdraw or correct

Three stations give the innovation chain distinct moments: test, translate and adopt. The line connects them and leaves room to stop when evidence is weak.

STATION ROLES

- TEST
Put models in a bounded test
- TRANSLATE
Translate results into public service
- ADOPT
Let city users shape adoption

Each station names a steward, an evidence format and an exit action. The three boundaries remain provisional constraints.

FOUR PUBLIC-GROUND MOVES

- WALK
continuous slowways and station access
- READ
milestones, wayfinding and readable status
- STAY
green rooms, public rooms and shade
- EXIT
pilots can pause; records can be corrected

The line starts lightly: test needs with wayfinding, movable furniture, open logs and removable sensors before discussing physical renewal.
